LARGE BUS FACTORY COMES TO GLENDALE

Our City Comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Increased Valuation Should Mean a Lowering of Tax Rate in City and County

THE high gain of three hundred thousand dollars over 1922, in the assessed valuation of real estate property in the county gives us the assurance of a lower county tax rate.

The assessed valuation in Glendale has without doubt kept pace with the county increase. This increased valuation will allow our city fathers to further decrease the municipal rate.

* * *

THE OWNER of real estate must accept the bitter with the sweet. He must expect to pay higher taxes as his assets increase. We are of the opinion that as a nation we are going to the extreme is taxation.

Of course, after the war, we could expect high taxes in order to take care of the cost of it but the country is fast getting over the effect of the war and the people are about ready for a lessening in the taxes demanded.

* * *

AFTER studying over last year's levy and this year's budget we have come to the conclusion that the municipal rate should not be higher than 90 cents per hundred dollars. This would be a saving over last year of 65 cents and would probably make up for the added taxes accounted for through increased value.

* * *

ANOTHER factory for Glendale. This statement is almost getting to be a byword; it has been repeated so often during the past few weeks.

The latest addition to the industrial life of Glendale is the Porter Sales and Engineering Corporation, designers and builders of motor busses and special chassis.

Work on construction of the first unit, a building 75x100 feet, will be started in ten days. The plant is to be located at California and San Fernando road on the west side of the Southern Pacific tracks. While this location is in the city of Los Angeles, Glendale, with the exception of taxes, will receive all of the benefit.

* * *

OUR prediction that both sides of San Fernando road within a short time would be lined with factories is gradually coming to be realized. The pulling power of each additional factory is considerable, the securing of each additional one giving us the assurance of more to come.

APPRECIATIVE FOLKS ATTEND KELLER SHOW

By GERTRUDE GIBBS

A large and most appreciative audience at the Glendale theater, Thursday evening, proved an inspiration to the pupils presented by the Pearl Keller School of Dramatic Art and Dancing at its ninth annual children's society vaudeville.

The wonderful program included children from toddlers of three to blooming debutantes and all deserved the applause showered upon them and upon their instructor when she was called before the curtain to receive a gift from her grateful pupils, presented by William Howe, manager of the theater, who added his own personal tribute to the high standard of work which the school has achieved.

Progressing from the baby pupils and beginners with which the program commenced it reached by natural stages the beautiful work of advanced students whose names have become familiar to Glendalians, the Turner Sisters, Dorothy Dutton, a graduate, Cecilia Mae Fischer, Katherine Sonntag, Julia Pelley, the Marek Sisters, the Hunt Sisters, Glen and Shirley Hitchcock, Gould Moore, Robert Lehman (graduate), all of whom were seen in solo numbers and then came together in a grand finale "Indian Ballet" in which Gould Moore had the desirable role of Indian Chief.

ODD FELLOWS TO WELCOME HARDING

At the regular meeting of the Glendale lodge of Odd Fellows held at the I. O. O. F. hall at Broadway and Orange streets Thursday night it was planned that the members will form in a body at some place to be announced later along the line of march that the president and his party will take when passing through Glendale on August 3. This was the first meeting in charge of the newly installed officers, Noble Grand Daniel Hall presiding.

ELIMINATION OF DODGERS SOUGHT HERE

Ordinance to Be Drafted to Do Away With the Handbill Nuisance

STOCKER IS SET BACK

Hillside Sewer Plan Is Declared to Be Impracticable

City Attorney Ray Morrow was instructed at the meeting of the city council last night to draft an ordinance eliminating the practice of scattering handbills throughout the city residential and business districts.

The instruction followed a motion by Councilman Davis, on the suggestion of Norton Buck, proprietor of the Stocking Box.

The matter of placing rubbish cans at a number of the more prominent business corners in Glendale was presented to the Glendale city council Thursday night by Norton P. Buck, proprietor of the Stocking Shop, 111 West Broadway, and in order that intelligent action along this line may be taken the council referred the matter to the chief of police for investigation and report.

"The southwest corner of Brand and Broadway is literally covered with papers at times, especially on Saturday nights, after the boys are through selling their Saturday night and Sunday papers. They throw the wrappers on the streets and the current of air seems always to carry them right to my door," said Mr. Norton.

All of the councilmen expressed themselves as in favor of taking action that would result in the streets of Glendale being kept clean, but they did not want to act until the question was looked into carefully.

Right along with this street cleaning idea was the suggestion of Mr. Buck that something be done to curb the throwing of handbills over the streets and in the yards of the residents of this city. He said that it is the habit of some of the merchants and others of this city to throw handbills in the cars as they stand along the streets. The owners, he said, entering their cars and seeing the papers thrown around simply throw them from the car to the streets, which assists in cluttering up the sidewalks and roadways. On motion of Councilman Davis the city attorney was instructed to bring in the most stringent ordinance possible looking toward the prohibiting of handbill throwing in the city of Glendale.

M. B. Towman was not given a permit for the change of the set back line on Stocker street as desired for the construction of a bungalow court on a lot owned by him at that point. Several property owners living in that section were present and the matter was laid over one week in order that Mr. Towman and his neighbors might get together and work out some satisfactory solution of the problem.

In connection with the communication received recently from Mr. Cordary, with regard to securing certain easements for sewer pipes on hillside properties, City Engineer Dupuy reported that, in his opinion, the idea is impracticable on account of the heavy expense involved and recommended that nothing along this line be done. This recommendation was accepted.

GRIFFITH PARK AVIATION FIELD PLAN PRESENTED

In an endeavor to have a portion of Griffith park set aside as an aviation field the West Glendale Improvement association sent the following resolution, adopted at a recent meeting of that organization, to the Glendale city council, which ordered it filed, Thursday night:

"Whereas, the question of a suitable, well-located aviation field near Los Angeles, adequate to the needs of postal as well as military service, is now engaging the attention of our national government, and

AUTO PARKING TIME LIMIT SUGGESTED

Congestion of Traffic in Business District Brings Improvement Plan

The matter of cutting down the time that automobiles are allowed to park on the congested business streets of Glendale was considered by the Glendale council Thursday night, and Chief of Police Fraser was directed to bring in a recommendation with regard to this matter.

Norton P. Buck, proprietor of the Stocking Box, brought this matter to the attention of the council time ago. However, I do believe hours is entirely too long for parking cars and that more business would be done by the merchants if the time were cut down to one hour. He also stated that it might be a good plan to prohibit parking on the north side of Broadway, between Brand and Central, as a safety measure.

"You're starting some real trouble when you bring up that matter," said Mayor Robinson. "We had a big time on that subject some was given. Mrs. Lennox was the time has come to cut down the time of parking, especially in the Brand boulevard business district. It is practically impossible to get parking space within two blocks of Brand and Broadway at the rush hours of the day."

Mr. Buck suggested that the time for parking on Brand from Wilson to Colorado and on Broadway from Glendale avenue to Central avenue be cut down to one hour.

Councilman Horn stated that he thought the one-hour district should be from Colorado to California on Brand and from Louise to Central on Broadway.

The discussion ended by the matter being referred to the chief of police for recommendations.

MANY VISITORS AT ROTARY MEETING

George Karr Sends Word He Will Be Home Next Week

Glendale Rotary club members held their regular noonday weekly luncheon meeting Thursday in the auditorium of the Citizens' building. On account of so many being away on vacations the attendance was not as large as usual. Among the visiting Rotarians were Leonard F. Collins and Dale Echar of Burbank, Elliott Wyman, Ed Merrill and Wm. McIntyre of Los Angeles and Ross Blakey of Alva, Okla. H. C. Vandewater, who is in charge of Glendale's building inspector's office, was present as a guest of Jim Rhoades.

In the absence of George Karr, who is at present visiting at his old home in Parsons, Kan., the meeting was presided over by Herbert Smith. France Henry led in community singing.

Under communications a wire was read from George Karr, who was at Manitou, Colo., stating that he would return to Glendale next week. A card was received from Roy Kent, who was in New York city, and also one from J. I. Wernette at Grand Rapids, Mich. Arthur Dibbern also sent greetings from Atlanta. All of these members advised that they had kept up their attendance record by attending Rotary meetings each week during their absence.

Elliott Wyman told some of his impressions of the St. Louis convention, which he attended as a delegate from the Los Angeles Rotary club. Mr. Wyman is known as the "daddy" of the Glendale Rotary club, having presented the charter.

Each member was handed a postal card from the president and was called on to make some remark on the same. Ed Phillips, who was a delegate to the St. Louis convention from Glendale, gave an interesting talk.

CITY FATHERS TO HELP DECORATE

Five hundred dollars will be expended by Glendale for the decoration of the streets on August 3, when President Harding will pass through Glendale, according to action taken by the Glendale council Thursday night. The spending of this money hinges on the donating of $250 by the chamber of commerce and also $250 by the Glendale Credit association for the same purpose without solicitation of any kind among the merchants of the city.

On motion of Councilman Davis the required $500 was authorized paid out of the advertising and promotion fund.

GLENDALE DAY PROVES BIG SUCCESS

Program at Motion Picture Exposition Is Well Attended

EVERY SEAT IS TAKEN

"Finders Keepers" Is Cancelled Because of Dr. Chase's Illness

Glendale Day at the Motion Picture Exposition and Monroe Doctrine Centennial at Exposition park, Los Angeles, on Thursday, July 19, was a great success. The program given in the afternoon in the women's court was said to have been the largest attended since the opening of the exposition. Ralph W. Browne was chairman of the committee appointed by the Glendale chamber of commerce to arrange for the program.

The program as announced in the Glendale Daily Press went off according to schedule with the exception of the last number, "Finders Keepers," which was not given owing to the illness of Dr. R. E. Chase. Every seat in the auditorium of the women's court was occupied and there were a great many people standing. In thanking the Glendale committee and those taking part on the program one of the exposition officials stated: "People wonder why we hear so much of Glendale. This is why—because they do things."

Not only did the program go off very well, but Glendale residents were well represented in the crowd attending. Mr. Browne on behalf of the chamber of commerce and his committee desires to thank all who assisted in making Glendale day at the exposition a success.

CITY TRANSFERS FUNDS FOR CASH BASIS SYSTEM

$15,000 Taken From Reserve to Add to General Money

Kieffer & Eyerick were granted permission by the city council last night to construct a wood and stucco archway over the entrance of their place of business on East Broadway. This was in response to a communication from this firm, stating that it expected within the very near future to remodel the front of its building.

In conection with the petition for ornamental lights on Central avenue, the city engineer reported that the names on the petition represented only a small percentage of the frontage and on his recommendation, it was decided to hold up action in this matter until further petitions are brought in by the property owners on that street.

The same was true with regard to the petition for the lights on Glendale avenue. This petition contained 34.4 per cent of the frontage affected.

The bid of the Electric Machinery company was accepted for a 400 horse-power motor, and the contract for the furnishing of a 300 gallon centrifugal pump was given to the Spazier Engine company.

On motion of Councilman Davis it was decided to paint all the fire hydrants of the city and the danger zones on either side of them a bright red, so that no excuse for parking within these zones might exist.

The council decided to establish a safety zone beside the Pacific Electric tracks at Wilson and Brand such as now exist at Broadway and Brand.

An ordinance to establish the grade of Fourth street, Justin avenue and Windsor road was offered.

The city engineer was ordered to put in the sidewalk on the west side of Kenneth, north of Doran street.

On motion of Councilman Davis a stenographer was authorized provided for the controller's department, the salary of this employe to be not more than $100 per month.

A sum of $15,000 was authorized transferred from the general reserve fund to the general service fund, in order that that department might operate on a cash basis. This was done on motion of Councilman Hall.

The bid for a carload of poles for the city was, on motion of superintendent of plant and production, awarded to the Belmire-Martin company.

Bids for the improvement of Alexander and Milford streets and also of Dryden street were referred to the superintendent of plant and production.

Maps of tracts Nos. 4083, 4039 and 6700 were adopted.

The following ordinances were adopted:

An ordinance establishing the grade on a portion of Raleigh street.

The following resolutions were adopted:

A resolution awarding the contract for the improvement of Cypress street and Magnolia avenue to W. J. Kern.

Council Proposes to Eliminate Patrols

The first step in touch with the eliminating of private patrons in Glendale was taken by the Glendale council Thursday night. This consisted of the city attorney being instructed to prepare an ordinance repealing the ordinance allowing private patrols in the city, the reason given for this step being that the Glendale police force is able to handle the situation.

The motion on this matter was made by Councilman Horn and seconded by Councilman Davis.

Additional Rooms At the City Jail

Six hundred dollars, to pay for the cost of constructing three jail cells at the rear of the Glendale police department in city hall, was, on motion of Councilman Kimlin, ordered transferred from the general expense fund to the jail fund, this action taking place at the meeting of the council Thursday night.

PORTER SALES AND ENGINEERING CORPORATION TO START BUILDING FIRST UNIT WITHIN TEN DAYS

Removing From Los Angeles to Glendale, Corporation Will Build Motor Busses and Special Chassis Construction in Big Plant to Be Built Here

By CORINNE ORFF

Work will begin within ten days on the construction of the first unit of the factory plant of the Porter Sales & Engineering Corporation, designers and builders of motor busses and special chassis, which will be the latest addition to the fast-growing industrial section of the Glendale district. Although Los Angeles will claim the factory as being within its city limits, Glendale will carry the payrolls for the large number of people to be employed. The location of this newest industrial plant will be at the foot of California avenue, across the Southern Pacific tracks, adjoining the grounds reserved by the railroad company for a freight depot.

The deal was made through the real estate agency of Bourne & Thomson of 212½ North Brand boulevard, and is the first purchase in the new T. W. Watson subdivision of 40 acres that has just been opened. The site purchased for the motor bus plant includes over two acres at an approximate consideration of $7,000 an acre.

The first unit will be 75x100 feet and will set back 30 feet from the property line to allow for the construction of a pressed brick office and show rooms. The factory when completed will have a floor space of 10,000 square feet. The firm is now operating in Los Angeles with a crew of 175 high-salaried men, all of whom are experts in their line. Within six months it is anticipated that between 250 and 300 men will be employed.

In addition to the orders now being filled in Los Angeles the Porter Sales & Engineering corporation has $80,000 worth of orders for motor busses to begin construction on as soon as the Glendale plant is in operation. This concern specially designs large busses for such concerns as the B. & M., La Crescenta and Los Angeles, City of Long Beach, etc. There is no stock for sale in the corporation, which has been in operation in Los Angeles for over six months. Mr. Porter, who owns 99 per cent of the stock, has been specializing in the construction of busses and chassis for the past 25 years and has been connected with some very large concerns.

According to B. F. Bourne, of the 175 men employed at the Los Angeles plant, 53 have families and are contemplating locating permanently in Glendale. Already two of the men have located their homes here through the Bourne & Thomson agency. The plant will not only do assembling work, but will also manufacture, as well as do special painting and body designing, upholstering, etc.

Operating also under the name of the Porter Sales & Engineering corporation, but conducted entirely separate from the motor bus plant, there will also be an axle factory, to move here from Los Angeles; a casting foundry and a spring factory. It is anticipated that within six months work will be started on the construction of these. Work on the construction of the bus factory will be supervised by the construction department of the firm.

Glendale should, indeed, feel fortunate in being chosen, as the location for the plant of the Porter Sales & Engineering corporation. According to Mr. Porter, moneyed men of Long Beach offered two acres of ground free of charge, and any financial assistance needed, if the factory would be located there. However, the lure of San Fernando road, with its tremendous traffic between San Francisco and Los Angeles, together with the main plant of the Crescent Creamery company to be located nearby and as prospective customers for specially designed trucks, the Glendale location was chosen. The creamery company has already placed two orders for sample electric delivery trucks. As it plans to do as much of its business with local firms as possible, undoubtedly a great deal of the work of painting the bodies of its trucks will be placed through the new firm.

Mr. Porter is anticipating erecting a large home in the foothills adjacent to Glendale, in the near future. He made the selection of the factory site here upon the advice of factory men who see the future of this industrial district and the value of the traffic to and from San Francisco over the noted highway, San Fernando road.

Mr. Bourne states that in the last week he has interviewed big factory men, and indications are that many great industries are leaning this way. Several prophesied that in only a few years all land between Los Angeles and Burbank would be one solid line of factories.

BRAND-BROADWAY PAVING BREAKS INTO THE NEWS

The very paving of a section of Brand and Broadway started boosting in the news of the day, Wednesday, when quite suddenly heavy blocks of the cement sidewalk parted at the joints and raised up something less than two inches, causing pedestrians to trip and necessitating a hurry-up call upon the city for repairs before a damage suit should be instituted. Police officers who investigated declared the break was the result of air in a pocket underneath, left after the repair of a water pipe, the air having been heated by the hot sun of Wednesday. Thursday a new block of cement was laid.

Adjust City Funds to Meet Cash Basis

With the aim of putting the affairs of Glendale on a cash basis, pending the receipt of the 1923-24 taxes, various sums of money were transferred from some funds to others by the Glendale council Thursday night.

On motion of Councilman Davis and seconded by Councilman Horn, $50,000 was ordered transferred from the general reserve fund to the general budget fund.

On motion of Councilman Kimlin and seconded by Councilman Horn, $64,568.16 was ordered transferred from the general budget fund to the general reserve fund.

On motion of Council Hall, and seconded by Councilman Kimlin, the sum of $4,598.27 was ordered appropriated from the unappropriated reserve fund to the proper budget accounts, together with the unexpected balances, to the various over-expended appropriations in order to balance up the 1922-23 budget.

The controller was instructed to revise the total revenue of the general budget for 1922-1923 to read $354,380.44, instead of $286,341.90, as the excess revenue of $68,038.54 was ordered transferred to the unappropriated reserve.

SECURITY TRUST BUYS STREET BONDS

The bid of the Security Trust and Savings bank for the purchase of the bonds of Improvement District No. 7, amounting to $23,000, which were advertised for sale by the city clerk, was accepted by the Glendale council Thursday night. The bid of the company was "at par and accrued interest." These bonds are in denominations of $1000, bear interest at a rate of 5½ per cent and begin to mature in 1926.

The bid of the company was dependent on its approval by Mr. Thompson, attorney for the company in New York.

DAVIS ACCUSES SOUTH ENDERS OF YELLING

Displays Displeasure at Citizens' Activity on Street Opening

A movement was started by the Glendale city council Thursday night for the improvement of Railroad street, from Eulalia to Los Feliz, the reason for this being to provide an entrance to the proposed new station from Los Feliz road. The city attorney and city engineer were instructed to bring in an ordinance calling for the improvement of this street with 6 inches of concrete, the improved stretch to be 30 feet wide.

"The people down there have been asking for the improvement of that street," said Councilman Davis, "now let's see if they want it bad enough to help pay for it, like the folks in other sections are doing. This action on the part of the council will knock the wind out of the assertions that the council would not improve the street on account of the Bentley Lumber company."

DISTRICT FOR ST. MEETINGS IS SUGGESTED

City Attorney Instructed to See If City Can Regulate Exhorters

The matter of congestion to traffic alleged to be caused by street preaching at and near the corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway, was brought to the attention of the Glendale council Thursday night by Norton P. Buck, 110 West Broadway, who stated that often it is impossible for pedestrians to pass along the street due to the crowds that gather to hear the speakers at these meetings. He asked that a part of the city be set aside for the holding of these meetings so that the business streets might be left clear.

"I do not object to preaching on the street. An element is probably reached at these meetings that could not be reached otherwise, but I do object to having the business streets of the city blocked during the heaviest business hours."

The city attorney was instructed to ascertain the powers of the city in relation to eliminating this trouble.

CENTRAL AVENUE PAVING PROPOSED

City Engineer Duply of Glendale was instructed by the council at its meeting Thursday night to start the necessary proceedings for the improvement of Central avenue with a 6-foot concrete gutter on either side, and the grading and oiling of the stretch of roadway between the outer edge of this paving and the present paved center strip, in accordance with the request made by the property owners on that street at last week's meeting.

The communication from Mr. Dupuy stated that the gutter would be a part of the permanent paving of that street, when it is done. The estimate of the cost of this work is $2 per front foot for the adjoining property.

NEWTON ELECTRIC DEFEATS POSTOFFICE

Newton Electric company's baseball team defeated the postoffice team by a score of 25 to 7 at the game played Thursday night on the high school grounds.

CALCUTTA, July 19.—Sir Rabindranath Tagore, Bengali poet and 1913 recipient of the Nobel Prize for literature, says in an interview that on his last visit to America in 1920 he was greatly shocked and disappointed by the selfish, nationalistic spirit which he found, and that he did not intend to visit the country again. With regard to Indian affairs, the poet predicted that the Mohammedans would soon gain supremacy over the Hindus, bringing India again under Mohammedan rule.

Is a South Glendale Chamber of Commerce Necessary?

May 20th, last, a member of the "Eventually, Why Not Now?" Association wrote the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, asking the indorsement of that body of a petition asking the city authorities to enforce the city ordinances regarding Railroad street, so that it might be used as a direct entrance to the depot grounds from Los Feliz road.

Over a month later, July 2, the Glendale Chamber of Commerce answered this letter, stating that at the regular meeting of the directors, held June 22, this letter had been referred to the depot committee.

Not hearing from the depot committee, our member, on July 7, wrote the Chamber of Commerce, asking the names and business addresses of the depot committee, and received the following in reply:

Replying to your favor of July 7th, beg to advise that our Depot Committee is made up of the following gentlemen:

Mr. Geo. Bentley, Chairman.....460 W. Los Feliz Road
Mr. Wm. Hunter .....119 S. Brand
Mr. J. M. Wilson.....1738 S. San Fernando
Mr. Geo. B. Karr.....1725 S. Brand
Capt. D. Ripley Jackson.....Postmaster
Mr. Francis Gordon.....213 E. Broadway

A letter addressed to any of these gentlemen will no doubt receive very prompt attention. Yours very truly,

THE GLENDALE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

In reply to this, our member wrote the Chamber of Commerce, asking as to when this committee was appointed, and received the following reply:

Replying to your favor of July 12th: Our Depot Committee was appointed at the annual meeting held the first of this year. These committees are appointed for one year.

To the Glendale Chamber of Commerce

Railroad street would be open now, and there would be no depot site controversy, were it not for the actions of some of the directors in the Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

Are you gentlemen willing that the selfish interests of a few should govern the actions of your association?

Were all the members of your association consulted as to the Chamber's recommendation to the City Council, that the lots for the opening of Cerritos street should be purchased by the city, and paid for by the taxpayers?

Who authorized the petition for the purchase of these lots to be headed, "A Recommendation by the Chamber of Commerce"—for the purchase of the Cerritos street lots?

How many names on the petition were actually those of members of the Chamber of Commerce?

After answering the above questions, can you blame the residents of South Glendale for viewing with suspicion any plans for beautifying the depot grounds, that do not AT ONCE provide for the restoration of Railroad street to the public as the direct entrance to the depot grounds?

The very day you insist on the restoration of Railroad street to the public, and prohibit it being used any longer as a private thoroughfare, you will end all the controversy as to the site of the new depot.

The "Eventually, Why Not Now Assn."

for the Opening of Railroad Street to the Depot Grounds.

RARE OFFER MADE ON TWENTY-TWO HOMESITES

C. B. Guthrie Announces Opportunities in Kenneth Road Tract

Another beckoning opportunity to those who desire locations on Kenneth road is announced with the opening of sales in the Kenneth road subdivision opened by Charles B. Guthrie, realtor, 110 West Broadway, Glendale.

This subdivision lies between Allen and Linden avenues along Kenneth road, and offers twenty-two lots. Mr. Guthrie considers these lots to be such sensational offers at the prices quoted that they will be sold within the week. A down payment is required, and no further payment is necessary for two years, thus enabling the buyer of small means to take advantage of the offerings.

Full bearing apricot trees cover these lots, which are a portion of the Reeves apricot orchard. The whole subdivision, which is known as No. 7, offers a commanding view of the surrounding territory.

Street improvements in this section continue without interruption, Kenneth road is being extended from Grand View avenue to Burbank. Mr. Guthrie has deeded to the city a strip through his property 60 feet wide and 500 feet long, which when utilized, will eliminate the jog in Kenneth road. This strip of property extends from Grand View avenue to Sonora.

According to Mr. Guthrie, the pendulum of advancing prices is swinging toward this section, and it is his contention that those who purchase at this time have one of the greatest opportunities for a highly paying investment that has ever been opened in Glendale real estate. He predicts a phenominal rise in prices in this section during the next two years, and states that on the terms which are offered with these twenty-two lots, where only a small investment is required and the payment of the interest for two years, the buyers should be able to more than justify their expenditure for the down payment before the second payment becomes due, in case they wish to consider their purchase in the light of an investment rather than as a home-site.

Ralph, aged 5, was afflicted with earache and screamed frantically with pain.

"Hush, dear," said his mother, "don't cry so, it only makes it worse. Don't you remember how nice your little baby brother behaved when he had the earache? He didn't make half as much fuss about it as you are making."

"What does that k-id know 'bout ear-a-ache?" sobbed Ralph. "H-his ears ain't half as big as mine."

HOLLYWOOD BOWL TO WELCOME ALL CHILDREN

Glendale Young Folks Invited to Fine Musical Concert

So great a success was the children's concert at Hollywood Bowl Wednesday night when an audience of 15,000 children was entertained, that a desire for more concerts of that character was expressed. The matter was taken up at Hollywood Bowl Thursday night and $2,000 was subscribed, or enough to enable the management to give two additional children's programs.

Mrs. Dora Gibson, head of the music department of Glendale High and an officer in the Glendale Music Club, is anxious that the children of Glendale should not miss this great opportunity to hear some wonderful music within their comprehension. She is therefore asking the newspapers of the city to broadcast the information that the next children's concert in the bowl will be given Saturday afternoon, July 28, at 4:30, when all children from kindergarten to high school seniors, and parents accompanying them, will be admitted free.

Arrangements will be made for places where the children can assemble to be transported from Glendale to the bowl, and these will be announced later. Also, it is hoped that owners of automobiles will volunteer machines to convey the children to the bowl. It costs the management of the Hollywood Bowl $1000 to put on the performance, but the subscriptions tendered will defray that expense.

'SAFETY LAST' OPENS TONIGHT AT GATEWAY

Harold Lloyd to Be First to Put Laughter in House

Ideas for comedies are rare. For the type of feature comedies that Harold Lloyd makes they are "rarer than rare." Harold being the first to awaken laughter in the new Gateway theatre, tonight.

The happy thought that led to the making of the spectacled comedian's latest and longest feature, "Safety Last," a seven-reel Pathe comedy, came like a flash out of a sky.

One day, about a year ago, Harold Lloyd and his producer, Hal Roach, were walking on a downtown street in Los Angeles. It so happened that at the Roslyn hotel that day, "Bill" Strother, known the world over as the "human fly," was pitting his skill against the intricacies of the Roslyn's granite walls.

Immediately the idea hit Harold that it might be a good plan to make a thrill picture, and to fill it with just such daring and hilarious situations as he made in "Never Weaken" and "High and Dizzy," outstanding successes in Lloyd's early achievements.

The idea was not long in the crystallization stage, for it was put into concrete form by Hal Roach, Sam Taylor, Tim Whalen and Harley M. Walker—the last three on the Lloyd scenario staff—and the filming began after the completion of "Dr. Jack." Strother, himself, was engaged to play the part of Lloyd's pal, and to, incidentally, climb one building for the benefit of the camera.

"Safety Last" will be seen tonight at the Gateway theatre, and it is declared to be filled to the brim with thrills. The funny situations are there in abundance, and with Mildred Davis, Harold also demonstrates that he can take his place with the foremost Romeos of the screen.

Right! It's a "sissy."

There's a "sissy" in "Penrod and Sam," a First National picture now playing at the T. D. and L. theatre, who incurred the enmity of the rest of the boys in the neighborhood and was ostracized by them because he "didn't belong." His father took a hand in the matter and through his intercession "the gang" reluctantly agreed to allow him to join their "In Or In Club."

But to join the club necessitated an initiation. Georgie Bassett, the sissy, went through the initiation ceremonies. When they had ended he was decidedly "second hand" and even his mother had difficulty recognizing him. And then Trouble with a capital T loomed up for the "initiators."

This is one of the many delightfully funny situations in "Penrod and Sam," which is from the pen of Booth Tarkington, the famous writer of "kid" stories, and which has been directed by William Beaudine.

"Penrod and Sam" has been characterized a classic of American boyhood. Benny Alexander plays Penrod with a fidelity and finish that are striking, and Joe Butterworth is no less a success as the "Sam" of the combination. Others in the cast are Rockliffe Fellows, Gladys Brockwell, William V. Mong and Buddy Messinger.

FILM TITLE PRIZE WINNERS OF THE EXPOSITION

Results of Low Building and Pacific Ready Cut Homes Announced

Winners in the film title contest held by the Low Building company at Glendale Industrial Exposition and Pacific Ready-Cut Homes, Incorporated, at Los Angeles, are announced.

Five cash prizes aggregating one hundred dollars were offered and after long deliberations the judges selected a title that was submitted by four contestants. According to the judges, Messrs. Butte, Barker, Baumgarten and Robertshaw, it was a most difficult task to select a favorite title and it was necessary to cull from hundreds of excellent suggestions offered.

The title to the home building film that stood the final test is "From Forest to Fireside," and the four contestants who will win the first four prizes are: Miss Evelyn Ahrens of 530 North Wilton Place, Los Angeles; Mrs. James A. Moore, 875 East 49th street, Los Angeles; L. A. Hart, 321 North Isabel street, Glendale; and William J. McConnell, 2352 Virginia Drive, Hollywood.

In view of the fact that these four contestants submitted the winning title, the first four prizes were equally divided and the fifth prize goes to A. N. Beman, 219 East Maple avenue, Glendale. Checks have been mailed to the lucky folks.

"From Forest to Fireside" will continue to be presented at the exhibition grounds, 1330 South Hill street, Los Angeles. Four free shows to be given daily and continuous shows Sunday.

The film is, as the title suggests, a home building photoplay, that presents the complete story of building by the ready-cut system, beginning with the hewing of the trees in the forest to the final completion of the home.

To blacken stove without soiling the hands either use a small paint brush to apply the blacking or place a piece of newspaper over a rag before taking hold of it—and also a piece of paper over the handle of the brush while polishing. To remove spots from the stove that will not scrape off with a knife use sandpaper.

Variety is the spice of life—especially in the matter of kisses.

EDITH SALYER IS HOME FROM STUDY WITH O. SANGER

Miss Edith Salyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Salyer of 1253 South Orange street, has just returned from New York after a year's study with Oscar Sanger, the great voice teacher of international fame, who has brought out more than twenty stars, one of them being Freeda Temple. Miss Salyer considers him a wonderful instructor, and he is most encouraging in his predictions of a bright future for his pupil. She has completed her first year's work and will resume her studies with Mr. Sanger in September. The Golden State looks good to her and she is a more loyal Californian than ever, declaring there is no comparison to be made between the climates of the Empire state and this.

MRS. DORA GIBSON TO SPEAK AT U

Miss Frances Wright, who is conducting a course in musical education at the University of California, Southern Branch, has asked Mrs. Dora Gibson of this city to give a talk before the class on the methods used in piano instruction in Glendale High. In that talk she will discuss the music courses for schools which she has been asked to compile for the State Board of Education. She has also been requested to give a demonstration of voice work in Glendale High.

DAVID APPLETON GALLAGHER REPRESENTING GLENDALE IN GREAT MOTION PICTURE TEST

David passed a very satisfactory test and stands a splendid chance to be one of the lucky six to obtain a contract with the Famous Players. Little David will be around asking your help, dear reader, in this contest. He is a boy whom to see is to love and but to know is to consider a privilege to have met. See David's film test run off at the T. D. & L. soon and then let us know what you think of his chances to become a second Jackie Coogan or Wesley Barry. Think of a star in the making right here in Glendale, folks.

Glendale candidates advance steadily. Pushing toward the front in a steady effort to reach their goal. Success is bound to crown their efforts and this town will awake to the proud realization that such youngsters as David Appleton Gallagher and Eveline Thompson have risen to the ceaseless demand of the silent drama for more talent.

Get on your mark, get set and let loose of that "can I, am I able, have I time?" feeling that is holding some of you back and come in and let us start you off in the race for movie prestige and glory that is yours.

You owe it to yourself and to the world if you have talents that are lying dormant. Wake up, be alive, this is a day when your chance is here. Take it. Show others that you are a comer and they will recognize you at once. Who was Harold Lloyd six years ago? Or any other character in the movies today?

Obscure like you, yet look at them now. You may do the same. Do your folks and friends laugh at your pranks, recognize that you have talent? Get away from the family and show others.

D. K. Mitchell, room 2 of the Glendale Press is awaiting your call to start you on the road for a contract. Come upstairs and make money on each stair.

A SECOND NOAH'S ARK

HAMBURG, (United Press).—The passenger list of the steamer Marienfels, which arrived at Carl Hagenbeck's animal port Stellingen near here, resembles the list Old Noah might have made up back in the days of his w.k. ark. The animals brought here for transfer to the United States include eleven elephants, seven bengal tigers, six leopards, seven deer, 356 asses, 28 lizards from one to three meters long, 137 python snakes, many poison snakes, lions, polar bears, black Indian collar bears, a zebra, Indian buffalo, wolves, antilopes, South American wild boars, flying dongs, crocodiles, marabus, cranes, parrots, etc.

D. H. SMITH GOT SOME BITES, HE SAYS

D. H. Smith is said to have spent Wednesday with a hook and line. His friends insinuate that the only bites he got were mosquito bites, but they are accused of mean spirited jealousy.

"4TH MUSKETEER" COMES TO THE GLENDALE

Brian O'Brien, the husky young Irish garage owner turned quickly to the leering face of the thug standing over him, knocked the pistol out of his hand and planted two wicked left hooks on the lawbreaker's jaw, sending him unconscious to the land of starry dreams.

Having aroused the reader's interest we will ask him to come to the Glendale theatre tonight to see "The Fourth Musketeer," starring Johnnie Walker and see how it all happened.

Walker enacts the role of a pugilist who fights his last fight, only generously to give his roll away and sacrifice a business opening. How he wins back a dwindling bank roll and a wavering wife forms an absorbing story.

A spendid cast appears in "The Fourth Musketeer" in support of Johnnie Walker, including Eileen Percy, former Ziegfeld Follies beauty. "The Fourth Musketeer" is from the pen of H. C. Witwer, one of the most popular short story writers of today.

RUSSELL - PIERCE HELP FURNISH GATEWAY

The Gateway theatre furnishings are, as far as possible, representative of Glendale business houses, and particularly of those in the vicinity of the theatre, at San Fernando and Brand boulevard.

From the Russell-Pierce company 1529-31 South San Fernando road, a portion of the furnishings were chosen, and the management of the theatre felt fortunate that the kind of goods desired, could be procured in the near neighborhood of the theatre and in Glendale.

MYSTERIOUS SEARCHLIGHT LOCATED AT THE NEW GATEWAY THEATRE, GLENDALE'S LATEST HOME OF THE SILENT DRAMA

Where is the searchlight? Stop looking. It has been found.

The searchlight that has been the cause of so much conjecture for the past week points the way to the Gateway, the Egyptian theatre of Glendale, at San Fernando road and Brand boulevard, which opens tonight at 7 o'clock with the showing of Harold Lloyd in his biggest and best picture, "Safety Last."

"Safety Last" has been playing at Miller's theatre in Los Angeles and was not to be shown in any other theatre in or near Los Angeles this summer, but through the courtesy of Hal Roach and the management of the California and Miller theatres, the Gateway has been granted the permission of playing "Safety Last" as the opening attraction.

Those who follow the searchlight tonight will pause before an entrance of one of the most attractively arranged and artisticaliy finished motion picture houses in California, without exception. Verne C. Laney of Los Angeles has entirely justified his repute in interior decoration, for every detail is good to look upon.

Subdued lights filtering red and blue hues across Sphynx head capitols on the columns which stand at intervals down the length of the theatre on either side and on enchanting Egyptian mural paintings, with overcast lights faintly emphasizing the objects depicted are not the least effective features of the plan of the interior. The atmosphere of ancient Egypt is further made evident through repeated winged disk motifs in the frieze around the walls and above the stage. The art curtains of Egyptian blue kerry cloth, bearing Egyptian designs in pleasing shades, are most effective.

Quite the surprise of the evening will come when the first tones of the organ sound. The Gateway organ is a Robert-Morton, made in Van Nuys. It is not large, but the construction is of such perfection that every effect possible obtainable in organ music may be achieved. This organ has the improved double touch keyboard, enabling the organist by a slight additional pressure on the keys, to bring into play an entire secondary range of instruments, thus producing almost an unlimited combination of tones. L. Earle Abel, formerly of the California and Miller theatres of Los Angeles, will preside.

One of the special features of the Gateway theatre is the nursery. This nursery is on the mezzanine floor, and is separated from the theatre by plate glass windows, which make the nursery sound proof, but enable the parent to see the picture clearly while caring for the child. The nursery is a large room comfortably furnished with wicker chairs. It may be reached by a flight of stairs on the left, leading from the foyer.

B. E. Loper, who is well known in the film world, having been manager of the Pathe and Fox exchanges during his career, is vice president of the Gateway company and manager of the theatre. Albert E. Cawood, who is widely known here, is publicity and advertising manager. R. E. Butner is chief projectionist, Olive Gulick, cashier, and Wayne Gulick, head usher. The ushers will appear in smart cadet uniforms.

"Safety Last" will be shown for one week at the Gateway. In this triumph of comedy, Harold Lloyd is supported by Mildred Davis, Bill Strother, Noah Young, Westcott B. Clarke, Mickey Daniels and Anna Townsend. Subsequent to the first week, bills will be changed three and four times during the week.

OVER 2000 ENJOY CHAFFEE'S PICNIC

Over 2000 attended the picnic for employes of Chaffee's, their friends and relatives, which was held at Brookside Park, Pasadena, Wednesday.

A number of Glendalians featured in the three baseball games which were played during the day. Forrest Jordon of 507 North Maryland umpired for a game between a team from the warehouse and a picked team of salespeople. William Shinner of 334 Salem street umpired during the second game, in which a picked team of officials defeated the butchers. A. C. Chaffee, president of the company, and Frank Chaffee, general manager, played notable positions in the officials' team.

"MARRY YOUNG" SAYS BENEDICT

[By Associated Press]

SACRAMENTO, Calif., July 19.—The twenty-one year "of age" limit for women, advocated in a bill passed by the last California legislature and vetoed by Governor Friend W. Richardson, would have been disastrous to many well-ordered matrimonial plans, according to W. L. Morrison of Redlands in a letter to the governor lauding him on his refusal to raise the age of feminine majority from eighteen years.

Mr. Morrison agrees with a statement made recently by the executive that "early marriages tend to happiness and good citizenship" and refers to himself as an example. "My wife married me before she was seventeen years old and she is yet the most wonderful of women. We will celebrate our golden wedding in 1924."

BUYING A HOME?
READ THIS FIRST
Here is the best buy we have had for a long time for the man who wants room for his family, for garden and chickens or for to build income in the fnutre.
The lot has a frontage of 80 feet, depth 160 feet; it is fenced, with space for children's playground and another for chickens. Beautiful lawn, orange, grapefruit, apple and plum trees, nice garden growing.
The house is modern; living room, dining room, bedroom, sleeping porch, kitchen, bath, screen porch with laundry tray. Not new, but in excellent condition.
In the back yard is an up-to-date tenthouse, with floor; a real place for the children to sleep, with electric lights and everything to make it comfortable. Large garage.

Far Away Borneo Offers Easy and Cheap Living

[By Associated Press]

LONDON, July 16.—British North Borneo appears to be as near paradise as it is possible for the tax burdened man of today to get.

No income tax is collected in the district. There is only a nominal land tax, railway fares have not been increased since 1911, tobacco is cheaper than in any other place in the world, chickens sell for a shilling apiece and whisky for eight shillings a bottle.

These facts are not taken from the circulars of a colonization agent, but are found in the official report of the British government authorities in the district.

A. R. A. OF RUSSIA DECORATE STORE WITH LABELS

MOSCOW, July 20.—What, would you say, are the decorative possibilities of a condensed milk can label? How may an unbleached linen sheet be made to convey an effect of artistry?

Interior decorations of those ladies whose limited incomes force them to see a bureau in an orange box, may consider these two questions as a challenge. The challengers in the one case are the children of No. 1 American Relief Administration feeding station in Kazan, and in the second the pupils of the Chuvash school in the same city.

The particular feeding station in question lies in the heart of a drab industrial section of the Tartar Republic capital. Probably it was formerly a warehouse. Its bleak brick exterior and the bare space of its entrance suggest somehow nothing more attractive than sacks or stacks of machinery. Then you enter an enormous stone-floored room on the left whose sole furniture is a row of tables, wooden benches and a counter, behind which at the time we went, were four white-capped women busy with the job of sorting the day's feeding tickets. These, however, only incidentally caught the eye which was held inevitably by the blaze of color seemingly suspended in mid-air.

"Banner!" said I. "Is it a holiday?" For the place had a definitely festive appearance.

"They're not banners," said John H. Boyd, the local A. R. A. supervisor. "Have another look."

Looking was not easy for anyone of small stature. Eventually by standing on a bench I could read the names of two well-known American brands of condensed milk. One suspects that the A. R. A. purchasers of these brands paid no particular attention to the can's labels, but trust the Russians to know good color when they see it! One, as it happened, is a deep blue on a white background; the other a bright red. As 2500 children eat every day in this kitchen, the supply of labels was almost unlimited. They had been carefully steamed from the cans in the vapor rising from the boilers of soup, cocoa, rice. They had then been strung lengthwise, some in rows of solid red, some of blue, some intermingled, and then hung sufficiently high so that the printing on the label gave an added effect of black. Add some palms affixed to the walls; a couple of Russian-painted A. R. A. posters, showing American ships carrying food to the famine-stricken; a photo of Herbert Hoover, the instrument of American charity, and you had a gaudily gay setting for the simple, nourishing noon meal which these 2500 children eat daily at America's expense.

The Chuvash school dormitory, on the other hand, gave a wonderful effect of coolness on a day when the sun blazed in the heavens. White and green—those were the only colors. The green was of boughs stuck to the walls, standing in corners, leaning against window panes. Vases are too dear to buy. The walls were white washed, the floors well scrubbed, and each bed had its counterpane of unbleached linen sheet.

"Say," said the startled American inspector, "what's the idea? Don't the kids use them?" He fingered the A. R. A. sheets.

The school manager and his attendant committee of three students smiled a little nervously.

"Well, you see," he explained, "the children think your blankets spoil the look of the room." He turned over a sheet to show the drab army covering. "Of course they put the sheets under at night, but they like the room to look pretty by day, so unless you object, we prefer to put the sheets on top then."

The A. R. A. man laughed.

"Go ahead," said he. "Let 'em be as artistic as they please, only be sure they use the sheets for something more than ornament."

Only a year ago the 166 children now housed, fed and taught in this school were famine waifs. The parents of some had died; others had been deserted by them in the hope that some institution would pick them up and feed them through the famine. Now it is shown that only forty percent of the children are orphans in the real sense, but all are being kept there, for their people cannot support them. Poor, hopeless, miserable youngsters last year, they have now developed into normal young men and women with pride in themselves and their school and a determination to show the Americans they were worth saving from hunger, disease and dirt.

CHINA AWAKE TO HEALTH NEEDS

China has been awakened to a new health consciousness, according to a letter from John B. Grant, associate professor of hygiene and public health of the Peking Union Medical College, China, to Miss Sally Lucas Jean, director of health education for the American Child Health association. "The work in China is growing along the lines of health education," writes Professor Grant. "This summer there will be four summer institutes at separate geographical centers for the training of teachers in health work. In addition Union Medical College is giving a one month's course, the aim of which is to give administrative educators a clearer viewpoint about health education."

Minnesota Politician New National Chairman of the Republican Party

"Big Ed" E. Smith, Minnesota "back-stage" whip, is credited with making more governors, legislators, judges and mayors in his native state than the entire force of the Republican party. He has been named by President Harding as chairman of the Republican National committee. Although recognized as a lawyer of merit, Smith has not appeared in court for twenty years.

EDITORIALS BY THE PEOPLE

Glendale, July 20, 1923.

Mr. Editor: I thank you for your article last night as to the "Bootlegging Doctors," who, under the plea that they are scientific, are nothing but public enemies. Your attitude that alcoholic intoxicating liquors are not medicines is exactly correct. They are nothing but poisons. It is a matter for which the public has great reason to be thinkful, that the great majority of our doctors and druggists and our national Pharmacopia is always right in declaring that alcohol is a rank poison—not a medicine at all.

I have been a pastor and married fifty-four years. We have had the services of forty physicians in our married life, and nine children. We know the doctors. We never call or recommend to our people any of those charlatans who are half-baked and void of sense, conscience and decency, and do not care for the health, decency or life of those for whom they prescribe, but only for the bad and vile appetites and habits of those of their unfortunate victims from whom they may filch a few dollars.

I hope you will continue to score them as they deserve, for the good of the public. They ought to be driven out of the country as soon as possible.

Yours truly,
REV. A. B. SMART, B. D.

CANADIAN CLUB HAS GOOD PROGRAM

Glendale Canadian Club held a well attended and enthusiastic meeting Thursday night at the Knights of Pythias hall at South Brand boulevard and Park avenue. An interesting program had been arranged by the committee and included community singing of old time airs led by Miss Alta Arnold. Miss Arnold also gave several solo numbers, including "The Birthday" and "Mavourneen," with "Marcheta" and "Somewhere a Voice is Calling" as encores.

A piano solo by Master Gordon Cook and reading by Miss Martha Warfield were very pleasing. H. W. Groutage contributed to the program by singing "The Sunshine of Your Smile." Humorous character songs and some clever work in ventriloquism were given by Mr. Thirkette.

S. S. Gilhuly gave a short talk on "Canadian Citizenship in the United States." The big treat of the evening was the "sword dance" and "Highland Fling" by Master Howard Kenneth Fraser, accompanied on the bag pipes by his father, both of them being dressed in Scotch costume. Mrs. Roberta Young was the piano accompanist for the evening. After the program refreshments of punch and cake were served. The next meeting will be on August 2, when an invitation dance is to be given.

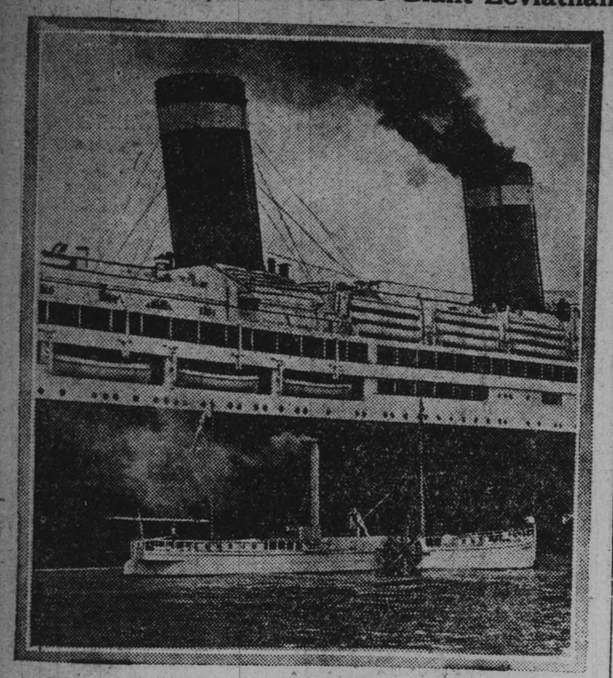
Replica of Robert Fulton's Steamboat, Clermont, Calls on the Giant Leviathan



While the reconditioned Leviathan was waiting in New York harbor to begin its first trip abroad as a passenger liner under the Stars and Stripes, a replica of the Clermont anchored alongside the great vessel. The Clermont, launched in 1807, traveled by steam up the Hudson river from New York to Albany, 150 miles, making the return trip in thirty-two hours. Thereafter the Clermont plied regularly on the Hudson. This was the beginning of successful steam navigation.

EPIDEMIC HYSTERIA

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.

(Copyright, 1923, by The Associated Newspapers)

To medical psychologists there is nothing extraordinary in the strange zeal of late displayed by numerous people in dancing many hours without once stopping. Their performance is merely an outbreak in a special form of a social malady technically known as epidemic hysteria.

Nor can the special form itself boast novelty. For this is by no means the first time that the world has witnessed a "dancing mania."

In the early years of spiritism—that is, in the forties and fifties of last century—frenzied dancing was at times a feature of seances, so that as many as fifty men and women might be seen whirling about. The same thing happened still earlier at revival meetings, first one person, then another being seized with an irresistible impulse to dance.

And there even were dancing manias long before spiritism or revival meetings were heard of. Occasional instances are reported as far back as the thirteenth century, the most noteworthy being one that occurred soon after Europe was swept by the black plague. As recorded by a student of epidemic hysteria:

"The black death over, the dancing mania began. About the year 1370 thousands of dancers filled the streets of European cities. So virulent was this epidemic that peasants left their ploughs, mechanics their workshops and housewives their domestic duties to join the wild revels.

"Girls and boys quitted their parents and servants their masters, to look at the dancers, and greedily imbibed the poison of mental infection. . . In Italy the epidemic reached such a height and became so widely spread that few persons could claim to be entirely exempt from it."

Fortunately nothing like this has developed in connection with the latest dancing mania, which is likely to be short-lived if only because it has as motive the establishing of endurance records. Obviously the higher the record set, the fewer persons will attempt to break it, until at last all give over trying.

Yet psychologically the mania of today is as significant as any earlier mania of its sort.

It goes to prove that, despite the boasted advances in education, large numbers of people remain unduly suggestible, uncritically responsive to ideas, no matter how extravagant and absurd. Also it goes to prove that large numbers are in a state of nervous irritability so extreme that they welcome even exhaustion as a means of gaining relief from tension.

Partly, no doubt, this may be attributed to the stresses of the war period and of the present uncertain reconstruction period. But in large measure the blame must again be put on educational shortcomings, and especially on the failure of education to foster poise, strength of character and a wholesome life attitude.

Always those most immune from hysteria and other nervous disorders are those who have most self-control and best know how to meet the varied demands of life. Always the gaining of self-control and of adaptability is the product chiefly of training, of education. Hence when nervous disorders are rampant, most of all when outbreaks of epidemic hysteria occur, warning is given that the educational system is somehow at fault.

In one way or another such warnings have been given century after century. Will mankind forever pay to them no heed?

FIND PRECIOUS STONES

[By Associated Press]

MELBOURNE, July 20.—A remarkable find of precious stones has been reported near Wyangala, about 25 miles from Cowra, New South Wales, and not far from the once-famous Mount McDonald gold and copper mines. The stones, which comprise diamonds, rubies, sapphires and turquoise, have been submitted to experts who declare them genuine.

The diamonds were found in blue pug clay similar to the pug clay in which South African diamonds are embedded. The sapphires are of a brilliant hue, and the rubies a deep red.

CHECKING THE CRIMINAL

President Von Kleinsmid of the University of Southern California, a student of criminology, says that the penal system is a failure. He said many other things of interest. It is doubtful, however, if there is anything new to be set forth touching the subject of crime and the treatment of the criminal.

As to making good men out of bad, the penal system is generally admitted, if not to be an utter failure, at least to be far from adequately meeting the requirements. It is a sort of emergency treatment. It is certain that the public must be protected from certain of the evil-doers banded against it. It is well enough to say that the offenders lack education, and that the cure of crime is in proper training of youth. Everybody knows this to be true. Knowledge of the fact does not seem to get society anywhere. It still has to be on guard by reason of the thief, the swindler and the assassin. Had these individuals in youth had the advantage of sedulous training in righteousness, been surrounded by an atmosphere of good morals, and taught to know and reverence the Golden Rule, the outcome would have been different. They lacked these instructions, and they lacked an uplifting environment. So they are as they are; and they are here, constituting a problem not sufficiently to be met by sounding aphorisms as to what ought to be.

In a far future men may have more sense. The increase of the inferior and tainted strains may be curtailed. Education may become a reality and not a dream. There may be inculcated a respect for law and a regard for ethics. This process necessarily must be slow. Meanwhile, even though regretfully, the wicked will have to be rebuked by the faulty methods now in vogue, and the prison walls cannot with safety be razed. However, the penitentiary may be classed as a hospital, and the inmate regarded as a patient, if this will help.

ANOTHER SENATOR JOHNSON

The election of Magnus Johnson as senator from Minnesota is nothing about which to get excited, although it is significant. It is to be assumed that the voters of Minnesota are of average intelligence. They know what they want, and having decided that they wanted Johnson, they elected him. The condition of the farmer explains the outcome. He does not see why his products should be sold at a price that does not pay the cost of production. It irritates him particularly because it happens at a time when everything he has to buy, including the reluctant labor that serves him, has to be paid for on a war-time basis. Throughout wide sections the farmer is bankrupt. He is losing out wholly, or he is holding on by grace of the banks, the bankers themselves hoping for a change in the tide that will enable them to get their money back.

The farmers, even with Magnus Johnson as their spokesman, are not reds or even radicals. They are hard working men who have been amazed and hurt to ascertain that their toil no longer means a living. They have not devised any plan that will serve as a remedy. Some propose that the government guarantee the price of wheat, but the scheme does not make any general appeal. No way appears by which the government could do this in relation to a single industry, even though an important industry, and not do it for all. That would be carrying the principles of socialism to an extreme, and the principles do not have general support.

Senator Johnson may throw some light on the situation. At least he will let the senate know how his fellow farmers think and feel. It is fair enough that while discussion of their affairs is in progress, they have representatives present.

PACIFIC TRADE

A Hartford paper, in calling attention to the beneficent effect of the Panama canal on the New England manufacturer, calls attention to more than this. It says, for instance, that New England has been brought nearer the Pacific coast than have such cities as Detroit, Pittsburgh, Cleveland or Chicago. The rate on shoes from Boston by the Panama route is $1.50 per hundred pounds, while from Chicago it is $3.69 in carload lots or $4.41 in less than carload lots. This certainly is to the advantage of the New England factory. Naturally the rates apply in similar ratio to other products.

The point that comes to mind, and which the Hartford paper ignores, is that the people of the Pacific coast are depending upon New England and the middle west for many manufactures that they should be making themselves. The utility of shipping hides across the continent to be brought back greatly enhanced in value, in the form of shoes or traveling bags, does not greatly impress.

It is true that factories are being started in southern California at a rate unprecedented, and yet not fast enough to keep up with the demand. The Pacific coast has cheap and abundant power and fuel. It has excellent transportation facilities. It is growing in population as no other section in the United States. It ought to be supplying, in large measure, its own needs for finished products of every variety. And as to the great middle west, there is no reason why it should not become a competitor there for trade with the long established factories of New England.

"TAKE $10,000 GEMS"

The headline over a recent episode in Los Angeles was "Holdups Take $10,000 Gems." The affair was not unusual. Something similar is happening right along, the value of the booty sometimes above and sometimes below the figures in the present instance. Four people were riding home from downtown. They reached their destinations in a quiet and respectable neighborhood. As they stepped from the machine they were accosted by armed robbers. There was nothing for them to do but yield. The four averaged $2500 each in the gems much sought by robbers. A few weeks earlier more than this total amount was taken from a woman who was going home unaccompanied. Houses are looted right along. When the burglar fails to get less than the equivalent of a decent year's income for a successful professional man, he must regard his efforts as ill paid.

Nothing could be plainer than that the owner of jewels, exposing to the world the fact of possession, is in grave danger of losing them. If the event is not marked by the loss of life, he may deem himself lucky. But there seems no way to prevent the display of the glittering bait so that it serves as lure to the criminal. Perhaps the pride of ownership could be as well served where the receipted bill for the gauds to be carried in plain view, the gauds themselves safe in the vaults of a bank. However, there is no precedent for such a course, and bejeweled humanity seems too conservative to change.

The prospects are that the robberies will continue. Granted that there is a large and undesirable social element devoted to the art of theft, apparently too smart for the police, there seems no reason to hope for a reform. The temptation is continuous, opportunities frequent, and the danger of being penalized, negligible.

Germans are said to have devised a ship that cannot roll, and that therefore will prevent seasickness. If this is true it may be counted among the big achievements of the century.

Kids—Animals and Cities

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

They are going to improve the St. Louis Zoo by the addition of a cow, a pig and some hens.

Yes, it's a fact. Unless St. Louis does, thousands of school children are likely to grow up in blissful ignorance of how such animals look.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

Within a few years, no doubt, it will be necessary to add a horse or two and at the present rate of "regulation" it won't be long before dogs and cats will take their place beside lions and leopards as zoological curiosities.

A poll of the pupils in the sixth grade of a St. Louis grammar school revealed the astonishing fact that 2500 of them had never seen a sheep and 12 per cent did not know what a cow looked like. Thousands have never seen a pig except on the moving picture screen nor a goat outside of a circus.

Thus does America "educate" her city charges.

Why do men elect to live in canyons of brick and stone separated from all other forms of life, all except flying and crawling things which manage to escape the vigilance of the housewife and the health departments?

To the generation that mercifully grew to manhood and womanhood in company with farm and domestic animals, who romped across grassy slopes with dogs and kittens in attendance, childhood seems unthinkable wilthout animal friends.

My own childhood is haloed with memories of birds and bees, little fish that swam merrily in a clear lake, hawks that sailed majestically in the blue vault above green fields and caused quick panics in the chicken yard.

One of my earliest memories is of being appointed by my grandmother to take care of a sick duck, and the appeal of that crippled bird did much to arouse the sympathy that I now have for all forms of life.

Feeding the pigs with grandfather, watching the mules come in from the cotton fields, holding the calf while the cook did the milking and later sitting in the warm dusk while the splash of playing fish made music and the frogs and crickets sang in chorus—what would childhood memories be without these bits of color and life?

If we are forever to be cave dwellers in skyscrapers let us by all means establish zoos open and available to all children. Nobody can be truly educated if he knows nothing but his own kind.

"The world is so full of a number of things" that I am sure the Lord meant us to know and love them, at least to understand and learn from them.

Fancy the poverty of the juvenile life that has to go to the zoo to see a "moo-cow."

Songs of the Poets

Song—By Christina Georgini Rossetti

When I am dead, my dearest,
Sing no sad songs for me;
Plant thou no roses at my head,
Nor shady cypress tree:
Be the green grass above me
With showers and dewdrops wet;
And if thou wilt, remember,
And if thou wilt, forget.

I shall not see the shadows,
I shall not feel the rain;
I shall not hear the nightingale
Sing on, as if in pain;
And dreaming through the twilight
That doth not rise nor set,
Haply I may remember,
And haply may forget.

THE BEAUTY OF CRIME

By DR. FRANK CRANE

"CRIME," says Rousseau, "is fascinating as an abyss." J. J. Weiss scandalized Paris one morning by saying of a certain startling affair, "It is a beautiful, a beautiful crime."

There is an element of truth in this. To read of a crime is to feel all those suppressed forces and wayward desires in us appealed to; we have often wondered what would happen if we should let ourselves go.

There is something that stirs us in every action where the soul defies prudence, which is a necessary virtue, but a small one.

The criminal feels he is a hero. We feel that he is a hero; bad, vicious and wholly reprehensible, but still he dared.

Good critics have held that Antony and Cleopatra is Shakespeare's greatest play. The two were wild, outrageous, immoral creatures, but they made meat for good art.

And is not the greatest lure that draws boys into violation of law, into deeds of recklessness and shocking badness, but a twisted form of the desire for glory. The road to real fame is long and hard; but any one can become infamous easily enough.

But one reason why we note the beauty of any crime and perhaps the principal reason is that it is unusual. The average crime is ugly.

The only thing that makes the occasional crime beautiful is courage. But the average crime is cowardly, while being decent and honest and good takes courage all the time.

The courage of goodness is as the courage of a brave soldier; the courage of crime is as the courage of a desperate deserter.

Courage is so beautiful that we admire it anywhere, even in Hell.

The trouble is that there is very little courage in Hell.

No man has to fight to go to ruin, all that he has to do is to slump and he just naturally floats to ruin. If you are looking for courage and plenty of it and for the beauty and glory of it, you will find it among the intrepid masses who are steadily battling to be good.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

ONE IMPROVEMENT

[Charleston News and Courier]

We have just been looking over the Centennial Number of the Alumni Bulletin of the University of Virginia. Its contents include a round dozen addresses by such distinguished speakers as President Alderman, Sir Auckland Geddes, John Bassett Moore, Dr. Henry Van Dyke, Ambassador Jusserand and others; and the addresses themselves, as might be expected, are scholarly and rich in interest.

It is not on that account that they are mentioned here, however. Our purpose in calling attention to them is simply to say that we have been especially struck with the comparative brevity of all of them. We should say that there is not an address in the lot that could not have been delivered in thirty minutes. Most of them probably consumed less time than that.

Contrast this with the old days when a Virginia orator like Senator Daniels would doubtless have felt that he had failed utterly to measure up to the dignity of an occasion like this if he had been on his feet less than two hours.

In some respects at least, there is no doubt about it, the world is growing pleasanter.

WHO IS AT FAULT?

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat]

The average age of convicts at the federal prison at Atlanta used to figure out at forty-seven years or thereabouts, but there has been a decrease of nearly 50 per cent since the passage of the habit-forming drug act and especially since the passage of the Volstead law. The youthfulness of many of the offenders under this recent legislation may be judged from the fact that the average age is now about twenty-seven years, which means, of course, that large numbers are much less than twenty-seven.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

There are six superior judgeships to be filled in Los Angeles county. For these positions there are announced candidates by the score. One cannot but help wonder why.

HENRY JAMES

More than a few able jurists have retired from the bench in order to earn a better income than there afforded. The lawyer with a big practice certainly has an income far greater than received by the judge who hears his case. In instances the fee in a single court action has far exceeded the salary of the judge for his full term.

Always there are mediocre lawyers, as there are mediocre members of every profession. That these would be competent judges does not by any means appear. Nevertheless their desire to be elevated to judicial status may be readily understood. The salary of the position is not great, but it represents comfort, and it is sure. Moreover a certain dignity attaches to the place sought. It carries with it an authority and power.

High character on the part of the judiciary is most important. Hence the public has been glad to see judgeships accepted by men, who, were they to be guided by financial considerations, could not afford to abandon the field in which they had been successful. There must be, at least on the part of some of them, an impulse purely altruistic.

Governor Richardson has a long list from which to choose. Some of the names are familiar. Others perhaps have been projected into the situation through the hope that they may become familiar. However much the governor may be puzzled, it is clear that he is under no embarrassment through lack of material.

War against whiskers is being waged fiercely by the artists who formulate the advertisements for shaving soaps and kindred products made necessary only by a bare-faced generation.

If there is no better excuse for shaving than the joy of using the touted soap, arguments in opposition to the wearing of beards need re-enforcement.

Sometime perhaps the public will know why recognition was so long refused Mexico, but it has not yet heard the reason. Many thought, however, that recognition was set back because of its advocacy by Hearst, who was known to have extensive Mexican holdings, and believed to have some motive not connected with the public welfare.

There comes from offshore a tale of fierce black fish assailing a launch. Their method was to spring into the air, poise there a few minutes for aim, and then launch themselves at the craft.

Well, the Pacific has big fish, some of them black, and where there are big fish there have been known to be liars accordin'.

The acquittal of a mess of Chicago politicians charged with eloping with $1,000,000 of school funds has been duly recorded, and no surprise expressed.

Part of the purpose of being a Chicago politician is in order to be acquitted as often as necessary.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE CRAB

It is seldom I place a boy in business. The school feeds her children into the high school or technical school rather than directly to industry, but now and again a boy is better fitted for immediate entrance or conditions demand it, and I try to find a good place for him.

Garry was one of the lads who seemed better fitted for work than high school. He had no patience with studying things out of books. He wanted to do them. It didn't do any good to tell him he would get no faster in the doing if he learned more about why and how in the schools. He was champing his bit, so we loosed him in a big business house whose head we knew and believed would help boys to grow.

Garry had been at work for a month when he raced into the office where I was at work and said: "I've left my job. Where shall I go next? I've left my job."

"What's the matter?"

"He's a crab and I won't work for him!"

"Why? Tell me what happened. I thought you liked your job."

"So I did. But he's a crab and I'm through. The first time I thought it was a mistake right enough and I gave it to the clerk. And the second time I thought it was funny, but I never got wise until the third time. Then I got mad and told him I was through!"

"But what happened? What made you get so mad? Take it easy."

"I had to empty the baskets and keep the desks polished, and shine things up and run errands and all things like that. Well, one day when I'm emptying his waste basket I find an old pocketbook. I look it over and find out what's inside. There's two one-dollar bills. Not old ones, you understand. Two bright green ones. I think he let it fall in by mistake and I gives it to his clerk, or his secretary, he calls him. The fellow that writes all his letters and bosses the offices.

"He never says anything. Just takes it. Couple of weeks after I'm emptying boxes in the basement and I find the old pocketbook again and it has a five-dollar bill in it. I think its kind of funny, but with emptying the boxes and everything I don't have much time to think about it and I hand it to the secretary. He gets mad if I call him a clerk, but he isn't so bad.

"He looks over his specs and says: 'Oh! Glad you found it. We wouldn't lose it for anything!' He kinda smiles at me. This morning when I'm dusting the boss's desk don't I step on the same old pocketbook with a whole lot of money in it. I don't count it I'm so mad. I'm on to him now. He's trying to see if I'd steal. I don't give it to the clerk this time. I wait for him to come in and I march in to him and say: 'There's your pocketbook. Better take care of it, because the next boy may be a real one. I'm not!' He calls after me, but I grab my hat and beat it up here.

"Where'll I go next?"

Queer thing to do to a boy, now wasn't it?

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

You know how it is. When a friend comes in at night and the pipes are lighted and the delectable processes of digestion are under way and the ladies—bless 'em—have moved into the other room to talk about dresses, and the books, politics, governmental shortcomings and European distresses have been disposed of, you begin to talk about other friends. It isn't gossip. It isn't scandal. It is just talk.

"Why are the Tommy Sinnotts always so happy?" was the topic before the house last night.

By and by this was the decision reached:

"Because they are a pair of square shooters."

We tried—tried hard—stirred our doddering memories—and we could not remember that either Sinnott had ever said an unpleasant thing about any one. Yet they are far from colorless. No one ever doubts where the Sinnotts stand on a matter of ethics or morals. I will not say they go out of their way to do good turns to other people, because that might present them as amateur altruists, who are often human boll-weevils. But the Sinnotts seem to like to do good turns, and they do not do 'em with that air of conscious grace.

"Watch me be a good fellow," lots of people seem to say.

The Sinnotts are kindly and unaffected and sincere. Maybe I'm wrong, but it seems to me those are the foundation stones of happiness. I never knew a grouchy, selfish, pushing, arrogant person to be happy. Such a person cannot be liked, and no matter how thick skinned he may be, the fact that he is disliked depresses him.

Of course, the Sinnotts are also in love. But it seems to me they would be happy any how.

IN SOME WAYS, the buyer for a market is similar to the manager of a motion picture house—

BOTH MUST CHOOSE such goods as will satisfy their customers.

MR. LOPER has made a fine step forward in opening his new Gateway Theatre with the production "Safety Last," with Harold Lloyd.

HE PICKS—as we do—quality merchandise, and then gives it to his patrons at the least possible price.

POSSIBILITIES FOR AIRCRAFT SEEN BY BABSON

Roger W. Babson, the Wellesley Hills business expert, was asked today regarding the commercial possibilities of the aircraft industry. Mr. Babson replied:

"According to all current statistical indications the aircraft industry may assume almost amazing proportions during the next 20 years or even in the next decade. Of course, the World war gave flying a great start, but unlike most other war-stimulated industries, the aircraft business has maintained considerable of its growth in the years since the war. This is a good sign. It means that fundamentally the industry is meeting a real need—which is for more rapid transportation.

"At the rate of growth that has been shown in the past ten years, there will be as many people in the aircraft factories 20 years from now as there are now employed in the automobile factories. It would not surprise me if more than 100,000 aircraft per year would be the production two decades from today. It is altogether possible for this industry to show just as spectacular growth as the automobile industry has shown.

"There are some serious obstacles to be overcome before it will do this, but there were nearly as many serious obstacles in the way of the automobile business when it first started. The first need, of course, is federal regulation of the air. There is now every indication that some federal law will be passed at the next session of congress, regulating air navigation and providing for inspection of ships and examination of pilots. There is need for well-marked airways for both day and night flying and regular landing fields at important cities along the route. Also, there must be aircraft terminals just as there are railroad terminals. Timidity on the part of the public will be gradually overcome as it is demonstrated more and more clearly that air navigation is comparatively safe. That public patronage is rapidly growing is shown by the statistics for 1920 and 1921, when 115,163 passengers and 122,512 passengers were carried in those respective years. When we consider that before the war hardly any one would step foot in an airplane, this growth of public confidence is remarkable.

"The dirigible is better adapted to long distance flights and the carrying of freight, whereas the airplane is speedier and better adapted to the shorter flight. The first development is tending toward regular commercial air-line companies, paralleling the railroad of the auto bus carriers. Until further simplifications and improvements are made in the small individual airplane, the industry will continue to develop along these lines. However, the day is likely to come when regulations and inventions will make the individual airplane as desirable as the Ford automobile is now.

"The cost of commercial transportation by air in Europe is only 8 cents a mile, but of course the air lines of Europe are heavily subsidized by the governments. It has, however, been estimated by authorities that private companies in Europe without national competition could operate profitably on the passenger rate of 15 cents a mile. This is certainly as cheap as any man can operate an automobile. The cost in the United States is much higher because we are comparatively new at the game. However, the cost is coming down. In 1921, it was 55 cents a mile; in 1922, it was 42.8 cents a mile; by 1940, I believe, we will be able to travel as cheaply, and probably cheaper, by aircraft than we can by railroads or the automobile.

"A word with regard to investments in the industry is in order. While I believe that the aircraft business is due for a great growth, on the other hand no one should plunge blindly in with his capital. Study the situation carefully. It is yet highly speculative. There is a great deal of experimental work to be done and there are many obstacles to overcome. The alert investor, however, will do well to keep tabs on this coming industry, so that when the time arrives he may really take advantage of the investment opportunities offered."

A SONG OF SORROW

I made a verse of a sorrow,
A verse that was writ with tears,
And the day it lived and the morrow,
And after the mellow years
Again in a heart I found it,
A heart that was new to pain,
And sorrow was all around it,
And tears flowed hot again.

And somehow it soothed the sorrow,
And somehow it eased the pain,
And the day and the night and morrow,
When the tears fell fast, like rain,
The voice of that long gone sorrow
Spake in the ear of grief,
On the day and the night and the morrow,
And the torn heart found relief.

I made a verse of a sorrow,
Bitter and sad and deep,
And I wept on the day and morrow
And the scar of it I shall keep,
And after the years I found it
Near to the heart of pain
With sorrow all around it
And the tears that fell like rain.

How strange that a song of sorrow
Should comfort a soul in grief
And day and night and morrow
Bring the torn heart relief!
How the kinship lives forever
Of sorrow through all the years
Nor the ages long shall sever
The fellowship of our tears.

BIG MONEY IN JOB AS H. W. CHAMP

By PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 20.—Jack Dempsey has made an even million dollars out of four afternoons' work as heavyweight champion of the world.

Figured down in minutes, it is estimated that the Iron Man worked about two hours for his cool million. Of course, he had to spend a lot of time in training, but there probably isn't any worker in the United States or any sport champion who received anything near the sum he has cashed in.

Dempsey got one hundred thousand iron men for bowling over Billy Miske and a hundred thousand more for playing around a few rounds with Bill Brennan.

Then came Georges Carpentier, the French beau brummel, who wanted to get knocked out. Dempsey did it for 90,000 spectators for $300,000.

Then there was the Shelby affair with Tommy Gibbons. Jack Kearns, manager of the champ, after fidgeting around with the promoters for a while, whistled to himself, "My Gawd, how the money rolls in!" and plucked out $300,000.

Those four fights gave Dempsey $800,000. Movie rights and other concessions bring the total to an even million. A few exhibitions may have been necessary to swell the figure, but Jack Kearns attended to those.

Dempsey and Kearns were just about broke when the fight with Jess Willard was arranged at Toledo four years ago.

* * *

It was a tough break of luck that kept Zev, the champion three-year-old, out of the Latonia derby. That race was just what Zev needed to set a new record for cash earned during the season. It also would have made more certain the position he holds as king of his class.

The west cleaned up in the race, winning the first three positons at the finish. Without attempting to detract from his honor, it is only fair to say that it probably would have been a different story if Zev had run.

COULDN'T USE PRIZE

WARMINSTER, England, (United Press).—Miss Gertrude Young won the third prize at a local charity bazaar, entitling her to a free shave every day for a year.

A REAL MOVIE HERO

PLYMOUTH, England, (United Press).—There's a future in the movies for Police Constable Robert Hutchings. He went to rescue his sergeant, who was attacked by 40 railway "navvies." Standing over the sergeant's body he fought off the gang. He knocked down twenty of them with his fists. One of the attackers kicked the prostrate sergeant. Becoming annoyed, Hutchings drew his night-stick, knocked that one out, and carried on with his hands. Hutchings has been recommended for the King's medal.

OTTAWA, Ont.—The pulp and paper industry of Canada operates 100 mills—40 being pulp and 33 paper mills, and the other 27, producing both pulp and paper.
